

CALL FOR PAPERS

Journal of Economics and Business Research invites research papers from all over the world from people having different research and academic backgrounds. The Journal publishes rigorous research papers that provide theoretical and empirical insights with future practical and actionable implications for the well being of the society.